FROM GREAT SLAVE LAKE.

Chas. Griffin, of Edmonton, returned on Tuesday from Great Slave Lake, where he had spent the last two winters. Mr. Griffin with his brother A. H. Griffin, Neil Marshall and Forbes Grost left Edmonton on the 28th of August, '97, participants in the now historic Klondike rush. They reached Great Slave Lake on the 10th of October, just as the lake was commencing to freeze and acting on the advice of residents of Resolution decided not to attempt to cross the lake that fall, so built a cabin and went into winter quarters on the southern shore. In the winter the party divided, the Griffin Bros. crossing over to the Hay River mission and Grost and Marshall went down the Mackenzie. The former returned, but the latter is now in Dawson.

Mr. Griffin remained at the mission and so met a great number of the Klondike parties who left in the spring of '98. A register was kept at the mission and up to the end of September, 1898, between 1,000 and 1,200 men, members of prospecting parties, had entered their names on it. Outside of these a large number passed on in the lake without stopping. Of these men about 600 are now at Fort McPherson, and between 250 and 300 at Fort Norman. Twelve are yet at the mission, including seven of the Butterfield party, who took down the little steamer Lillian B, three of the Hurt party, Clark of Chicago, and an old Grand Army veteran named Christie. The Hurt Bros. will return in the spring as will also several of the Butterfield party. Marks and Wooley, of the Langworthy expedition, were at Good Hope at Xmas.

Gold and silver claims have been located at the lake. On the southern shore about 45 miles west of Fort Resolution, Messrs. Hall, Hollwright, Simpson and Bannister, of the Helpman party and Chas. Holt of Chicago, have located a silver claim and sunk a shaft 15 feet down. On the northeast side of the lake, 200 miles from Fort Resolution, the nearest post, the Yukon Valley prospecting & Mining Co.'s gold proposition is located. They were only staking their claims when Mr. Griffin left and had no shaft down. Maurice L. Willard, of the Yukon Valley Company was met at Fort McMurray on his way north. The English and American parties there are forming a company to work the claims.

Insp. Routledge was met at Resolution on the 10th Feb. He was going up the Peace to the crossing, coming in by the Landing and expected to reach Fort Saskatchewan on the 26th, of this month. While at the lake Insp. Routledge sold mining licenses, disposing of 20 or 25.

Mr. Griffin left Resolution on the 10th February coming in with Hilo's dog team as far as Lac la Biche, and thence by sleigh.

LESSER SLAVE LAKE.

(Special correspondence.)
Up to the time of writing, 67 teams have arrived in from Edmonton with freight for the different traders doing business here, and the H. B. Co. This number will be repeated as they will all double back from here this week.

The Bradford Mining Co., with T. P. Robb in charge, passed through here on the 23rd, making good time, and all well. Chas. Anderson, of the lake, is taking up the Finlay river, and figures on making the Finlay river in eighteen days from here. Hay is plentiful and as Anderson is an old timer in the country, with a reputation second to none for travelling, we feel confident he will reach his destination within the time stated.

Mr. Lawrence, of Vermilion, arrived here with a separator, saw mill, boiler and engine, safe and sound. He doubled back to the Landing for the balance of his outfit, consisting, I understand, of a flour mill.

Sgt. Anderson arrived in on the 25th with a police patrol party carrying mail. He was ten days out from the Fort, which is considered good travelling here.

Const. Phillips, stationed here, gets a stripe and promotion. He certainly merits it. He came here with the natives prejudiced against police, and by using his power with tact that feeling has disappeared. He is now consulted in all matters of disagreement with the people, and what he says "goes" with them.

Speaking of "we have heard," puts me in mind of one of the amusing sides of our existence here. You can hear almost any kind of a story in a trip up Bouillon street, our main pike. The arrival of a freighter throws the burg into a cat fit. Hear any fairly turns the town upside down. All kinds of wild rumors float around, and every man you meet has got a tip on one thing or another; another Klondike rush; strike on the Finlay, will do for samples. Up will go the price of hay, while quotations on beef drive us to eating fish caught last October. Every old spavined plug of a horse for miles around will be driven in for sale. Dreams of wealth can be read on the face of every man you meet. Days come and go, no rush. The natives, who have been rudely awakened from their lazy easy ways, look at us more suspiciously than ever and grow quieter and more reserved. The price of beef, etc., resumes its normal state. The traders josh one another, the weak ones take to ginger, and quietness once more resumes its sway.

ON BLACK RIVER.

Geo. Admitt, who left early last spring with Chas. McCallum for Dease River, writes to Alf. Brown, of Edmonton, from Sylvester, on Dec. 26th. The letter was received last week and in it Mr. Admitt says that he and his partner are camped on the Black river, about 150 miles from Sylvester. They got in early and their horses are all fat and well. They had killed three moose and so had plenty of fresh meat. Snow came on the 24th of October, but all went off again. More fell in November, but not much, and so far they had had only four or five cold days. In the spring they are going to prospect the head waters of the Black river as they had found some very good prospects on the bars. That country has never been prospected. Jones, the cattle man, was camped about 12 miles from Admitt's camp. He left all his cattle at St. John and Graham, except 17 head which he killed to make into pemmican.

THE PLEBISCITE.

The position of the government on the plebiscite is outlined in the following letter from Sir Wilfrid Laurier to the secretary of the Dominion alliance in answer to his request that a prohibition bill be introduced as a result of the plebiscite vote:

"The exact figures of the vote recorded show that on the question put to the electors 278,487 voted yes and 264,571 voted nay.

"After the official figures had been made public it was contended by some of the opponents of prohibition that the margin of difference between the majority and the minority was so slight that it practically constituted a tie, and there was therefore no occasion for the government to promise one way or the other. The government does not share that view. We are of the opinion that the fairest way of approaching the question is by a consideration of the total vote cast in favor of prohibition, leaving aside altogether the vote recorded against it.

"In that view of the question the record shows the electorate of Canada, to which the question was submitted, comprised 1,233,349 voters, and of the number less than 23 per cent. or a trifle over one-fifth, affirmed their conviction in the principle of prohibition, who believed the people were with them and that if the question was voted upon by itself, without any other issue which might detract from its consideration, a majority of the electorate would respond, and thus show that the Canadian people were prepared and ready for its adoption.

"It must be admitted that that expectation was not justified by the event; on the other hand, it was arranged by yourself and others that as the plebiscite campaign was carried out by the friends of prohibition without any expenditure of money, and without the usual excitement of a political agitation, the vote recorded in favor of it was comparatively a large one. This statement I did not then controvert, nor do I controvert it here, and now I would simply remark that the honesty of the vote did not suffer from the absence of those causes of excitement, and that even if the totality of the vote might have been somewhat increased by such a cause, its moral force would not have been made any stronger.

"I venture to submit for your consideration, and the consideration of the members of the Dominion alliance who believe in prohibition as the most efficient means of suppressing the evils of intemperance, that no good purpose would be served by forcing upon the people a measure which is shown by the vote to have the support of less than twenty-three per cent. of the electorate. My object is simply to convey to you the conclusion that in our judgment the expression of public opinion recorded at the polls in favor of prohibition did not represent such a proportion of the electorate as would justify the introduction by the government of a prohibitory measure."

RISE IN FURS.

Never within the last twenty-five years has the price of furs been as high as it is at present. At the London sales, now on, the price went up with a rush, exceeding the most sanguine expectations. The Hudson's Bay Co's sales commenced on Monday last, the 13th, and continued until the 16th.

The following are the prices the different lines sold at, as compared with last March:

Otter,	No. 1, 15% lower
"	" 2, 10 "
"	" 3, 15% higher
Silver fox,	80 "
Cross fox,	25 "
Red fox,	60 "
White fox,	60 "
Martin,	60 "
Mink,	50 "
Link,	40 "
Wolf,	40 "
Wolverine,	70 "
Grizzly bear,	15 "
Black bear,	10% lower
Brown bear,	10 "
Fisher,	10 "

Musk ox same as last March.

Rats and beaver were sold in January.

Lampson's sales proper started on Friday last though a few lines were disposed of in the evening after the company's sales. They will not be concluded until next Friday. So far the following lines have been sold. The price is compared with last March: Cross fox, 15% higher; Fisher, 10% lower; Wolverine, 50% higher. The higher prices are accounted for by the business activity in the States, due to the late war, and also by the Paris exposition, the fur exhibits for which would have to be purchased at this sale.

LACOMBE

Rev. T. Ferrier, of Edmonton, gave a very interesting lecture here on the 24th. Subject, "Philosophy of failure." A good audience listened to the reverend gentleman, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather.

P. Talbot, our dealer in thoroughbred stock, has been very ill with sciatica rheumatism, but is now showing favorable symptoms of recovery.

W. Puffer met with quite a serious accident. While handling some beef he had the misfortune to receive a bad cut in his right hand. J. Tice, who has been spending the winter in Dakota, returned on the 6th and with him Chas. Smith, a young barber. It is the intention of C. Dolmage to erect a new barber shop in connection with the Victoria hotel, and our new barber will then take charge.

A fruit store has just been started in Lacombe by G. Jamieson. It is the intention of McLeod & Gilmour to erect a new general store this spring. Already the land has been purchased on Nanton street for the business. This attractive place has never been utilized, although commanding one of the best business locations in town.

Our new teacher Mr. Eggleton has moved his family here from Red Deer. A young daughter arrived at the home of Mr. Ramsey on the 15th.

Miss Connie Daykin has returned from Edmonton and will reside in Lacombe. Dr. Goodwin, of Edmonton, is expected here on the 14th. A large sale of cattle took place on the 11th, imported by A. Gilmour. They met with ready sale and commanded good prices.

March 11th, '99.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY AT ST. ALBERT.

St. Patrick's day dawned beautiful and bright on the peaceful village of St. Albert. Flags were hoisted from the principal buildings and the merry ringing of the St. Albert chimes told, far and near, that the hour of divine service was drawing nigh.

At ten sharp the industrial school band of St. Albert, under the leadership of T. Yarn, struck up "Patrick's Day," then a goodly crowd entered the sacred edifice where mass was about to be offered. His Lordship, Bishop Grandin, richly arrayed in his episcopal robes, officiated at the throne where Rev. Fathers Cunningham and Remas acted as assistants. Mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Merer, Sup., while Rev. Fathers Dauphin and Doran acted as deacon and sub-deacon. The music was lively and bright and quite in keeping with the celebration. The congregation consisted of the most respectable citizens of St. Albert and environs, among whom we remarked such good "old timers" as W. Cunt, H. W. McKenney, D. Maloney, L. Kelly, T. Flynn, P. Flynn, T. Whelan & Co., Dr. Tierney and other professionals occupied the front seats. The sermon was preached by Rev. Father Cunningham who did full justice to the life and virtues of the Apostle of the Green Isle.

Service being ended the band again discoursed some very fine pieces on the brow of the hill. Wishing the Irishmen of St. Albert every success in their noble endeavors to celebrate in a worthy manner the feast of their illustrious patron.
